400m Women B Race - 1st 52.42 PB

I am super happy with this race. My goal was to run my own race and that is exactly what I did today. I didn't expect it to go so fast. Normally I run 400m Hurdles but I wanted to see where I am in the 400m. Especially after Munich where I didn't run the relay I wanted to know how fast I could go. The goal for the rest of the season is to stay healthy, enjoy and run some good times. Next week I run in Lucerne and perhaps a 400m flat in Zürich.

The atmosphere in the stadium was unbelievable and I really enjoyed competing here. It was a bit chilly but that did not come in the way.

I am happy with the result and am looking forward to the next meetings, especially the DL final in Zurich.

Triple Jump Men - 1st 17.67

It was my first time competing in Lausanne and the atmosphere was great. I loved the crowd, the energy was amazing! I felt good in my warm up and so I concentrated on getting my technique right, with the aim of getting a PB. I didn't achieve that today but I feel I am in good shape. Next I go to Brussels and then Zurich, I look forward to continuing the good form there.

Wow! This crowd is amazing, its my first time in Lausanne and i'm really impressed with the atmosphere here its one of the loudest stadiums that I've run in. I'm feeling blessed this season, i've been running consistently fast and it puts me in great stead for the next season. After this I go to Luzern for a 400m race.

400m Hurdles Men - 2nd 48.66

I am satisfied with my race. I was quite tired with the World Championships, the European Championships and the season that comes to its end. I came here to enjoy the competition, with the support of the spectators. With the other competitors, we know each other well and enjoy running together. I had to wait three years to beat my PB and this season I did it by more than one second. There is no particular reason I broke my PB, I am just good in my life. I have a good and healthy balance. I started studying again and this structured my days. I needed to orgaise myself better. My coach Olivier and I trust each other. We work well together, have a good trainings group and good medical staff. Next up are Brussels, Zürich and Bellinzona. I just want to have fun there.

Very pleased with my race, I felt I executed my plans well this evening especially since I had not competed in the last two months.

Janieve RUSSELL (JAM)

400m Hurdles Women - 2nd-53.92

The race was ok but honestly I wanted to go faster. I felt that with such fast competitors in the field, I could have put together a better race. I shuffled between a few hurdles and did not execute my technique correctly at times. Nevertheless, I am grateful for the result because its been a long season and I have run alot. I love running and its part of the job that I do (to also do some 4x400ms for Jamaica), so even though my body is tired i'm happy to be racing. I look forward to coming back to Switzerland for the finals in Zurich.

400m Hurdles Women - 1st 52.95 MR

I saw Lea on television in the call room. So I told myself that I had to do well in her garden. It's amazing to run a MR here and run again in 52, especially in this beautiful city. The first 200m felt easy and I wasn't too close to the hurdles. The second part is my better part this year. I am getting tired. I was less tired than expected actually. In the last days I spent 11 hours a day in bed. I am glad that I have some days rest till my last race of the season in Zürich.

I am really happy that I came home with the victory and a new PB. The first lap was really fast and I felt I was on a good tempo. I was a little bit afraid that they would slow down in the second part of the race so I just took the lead. I have had my best season so far. I found a good balance in my personal life. I can do my sport, enjoy my trainings and also the competitions. I think people see that when I race. The goal this season was to be amongst the best in the world. I think I did kinda well. Now I want to go for faster times and be on the highest level possible. Next up are Rovereto and the final in Zürich.

I'm thanking God right now, I will never forget this race, its my first time under 13 seconds and i'm very happy for it. Everyone comes here to do their best, so I just focus on my own race and try to execute what I have practiced in training. I started my season with injuries but as you can see as the season is progressing, its getting better and better. New training camp, much better results, the proof is there. I was moving a little fast. I hit hurdles 6 and 7 and was coming off really quickly. I was trying to get my move but got a little off-balance. But I was able to finish. It's not a bad time either for my birthday. I had some obligations for college this season. We did that and then I went on to win silver at the World Championships. People say that I raced a lot but in the end I only did 5 indoor and 5 outdoor college races and 3 or 4 out of college. I am happy to be able to do what I love. For the Diamond League Final in Zürich I need to sharpen up a little. Hopefully I don't hit the hurdles there, then I will run 12.90.

It was a pretty good race. Luckily the pacemaker was pushing the first 700m. The risk was that the pace would slow down when he quits, so I had to push and it turned out well. I think I could have gone faster. Overall I had a good season. Obviously I was disappointed in Eugene. There are always things I can do better and it doesn't always go as expected. For the end of the season and next year I have to put in a lot of work to get faster and break records. Next year it will also be easier with just one Championship.

I would have taken anything under 19.60, so 19.56 is alright for tonight. I could have gone faster but I am not going to fret too much about it.

I am going to run the 100m in Berlin and 200m in Zurich so there are quite a few meets in the coming weeks. As I said earlier, I am in a good physical and mental space and very capable of producing some good times this year.

I have not run the 100m in a while so I am looking forward to doing that in Berlin. I feel if I have a 19.30 in me, I will not be too far from a 9.70 in the 100.

Its been a great season for me, I won the world indoors in the 400m and PB'd in the 200m including a big win at the Commonwealth Games. I'm very happy about how things have been going. Training with Wayde in Florida has been a big help I think as we continue to push each other. Overall I made some progress from Moanco. I was stuck in the 400m mindset with rhythm running. I got back home and tried to become a sprinter again. We changed the pace and I felt the difference today. I felt super strong and fit. Both events are going hand in hand. The sense of speed in the 200m allows me to run a first good half in the 400m. And the speed endurance of the 400m gives me the strength in the 200m. If I do well in one, I will do well in the other one too. I am not content about my season. I wanted to go out there and improve upon what I had done. We worked really hard to get there. It's not where I wanna stay at. In the 400m I want to make huge progress next year.

I wished for more good jumps. But I didn't want to put too much pressure on myself after a long trip and a lot of weird experiences in the past week. Two weeks ago I would have been happy to finish 3rd with 4m60. Now it leaves me a little unsatisfied, which is good because I expected a little more of me. I think I can jump a lot higher. It has been a positive season. It was a tricky beginning of the season with injuries. But it turned around at the right time. Eugene was already a good experience and the Europeans were perfect. I hope that I make some better results at the end of the season. I have still the fire in me to jump high. Next up is the Finland-Sweden Match. Perhaps Zürich, we are counting the points. Women SWITZERLAND (SUI)

4x100m Relay Women - 1st 42.91

It was incredible. We were looking forward to run in front of a home crowd. We felt the energy. It was a real pleasure to end the relay season here. It was a different year for the relay team and I think it's good for all the girls to end it on a positive note.
